IMPORTS.
From Nantamo, per bark Ceylon, May 15—Allen & Robinson, 949 tons of coal.

SHIPMENT NOTES.

The schooner Kaulaese is being repaired.
The Kilauea will arrive early to-morrow from windward ports.

The schooner Caterina brought 522 bags sugar on the 15th from Hanalei, Kaula.

The schooner Halekale brought 1,400 bags sugar on the 14th from Pepeeke.

The bark Mendota was docked at the foot of Fort street, on the 15th, to discharge her coal.

The bark Mendota, having finished discharging her general cargo, commenced unloading her coal on the 15th.

The General Siegel gets away for Jaluit this morning early. She will be gone some months.

The steamship Australia will arrive either to-day or to-morrow from San Francisco, en route for the Colonies.

The steamer Kilauea Hou arrived on the 15th from Hanakua, with 3,852 bags sugar and 40 head cattle.

The schooner Pohokiki brought 540 bags sugar on the 15th from Keweenaw, Hanalei, Hawaii.

The American bark Ceylon, Captain G. F. Barstow, arrived on the 15th, from Nantamo, and anchored in the stream. She brought 949 tons of Departure Bay coal to Messrs. Allen & Robinson.

Messrs. Wells, Fargo & Co. shipped by the Mariposa on the 15th, for San Francisco, one bag of coal, containing $900 in gold and $474 85 in silver.

The steamer Kilauea Hou goes on the marine railway to-day, to enable the workmen to see how much she was damaged when she touched on the rocks during her last trip. As soon as she comes off the tug Elsie will go on, to have her bottom cleaned.

The Oceanic steamship Mariposa sailed at noon on the 15th for San Francisco, with a cargo of domestic products valued at $206,064 01, embracing 35,724 bags sugar, 685 bag rice, 2,629 bunches of bananas, 11 boxes beet leaves, 551 dry and green hides, 1,139 goat and sheep skins, and 5 packages sundries. She carried away about 124 passengers.

Fort Street Church Services.
"A Fatal Choice" will be Mr. Cruzan's Sunday morning theme. Last lecture to young men on "An Uncrowned King." A cordial welcome for all. Meeting for Bible study at 6:30.

The Mariposa was heavily freighted when she left the dock yesterday. Besides taking 112 passengers she had as cargo 35,724 bags of sugar, 685 bags of rice, 2,629 bunches of bananas, and other freight amounting to about 2,200 tons, valued at $206,064 01. She also carried $900 in gold coin, and $474 85 in silver.

In Memoriam.

Auwe! Auwe! the bitter wall resounds,
From far Kaula to bold Hawaii's shore;
The people's grief and sorrow know no bounds,
For their loved Emma-lani is no more.

A Chieftain's daughter lies in regal state;
Kahili, royal emblems, wave on high,
And soldiers, guards of honor, round her wait;
While every isle takes up the mournful cry.

The regal diadem beside her head,
The purple pall emblazoned with her crest,
These mutely tell us that a Queen is dead,
The crucifix—a Christian laid to rest.

"Kaleleonalani!" named aright,
For "heavenly flight," indeed, are thine in truth,
And in Paradise of love and light,
Thou'lt meet the child and husband of thy youth.

Auwe! Auwe! the mourning nation cries;
Auwe! Auwe! she does not heed its grief;
Auwe! no more she wipes the weeping eyes,
No more she gives the sick and poor relief.

The King and lowliest native equal share
The common grief, for each has lost a friend,
And closer draws the bond of sympathy—
The throne and hut unite their tears to blend.

And not alone Hawaiians grieving cry,
The Hades join the universal moan;
America extends her sympathy,
And England's Queen will mourn a sister gone.

Let loving hands bring fragrant flowers white,
For fragrant was her life in deeds of love;
Twine cross and malle; let the candles' light
Speak Christ her light to that bright home above.

Low droops the Royal standard on its mast;
Lend sounds the brazen cannon's hoarse fare-
well;
Sway the kahilis; while our tears drop fast,
O'er her whom rich and poor have loved so well.

Toll, toll, ye bells; beat, beat, ye muffled drums;
Ye trumpet toll the funeral dirge aloud;
Weep, weep, ye people in your island homes,
Let every head in bitter grief be bowed.

Yet hark! a sweet and solemn voice which saith:
I am the Resurrection and the Life,
Who lives in Me can never die; bless'd faith
To cheer us in a world with sorrow rife.

Oh, grave, where is thy victory; oh, death,
Where is thy sting, since Christ is risen again;
But a trice while ye hold this mortal breath,
Then shall rise, a Queen for aye to reign.

Sing on ye choirs, of death and grave destroyed;
Sing of our Emma-lani's happy state;
Sing on, of bliss and pleasure unalloyed;
Our hearts are heavy, but our hopes are great.

Kaleleonalani is not dead;
She sleeps on earth, but wakes in Paradise;
Rejoice we then and lift the drooping head,
She is but veiled from our mortal eyes.

And so we leave her sleeping sweet in God,
Until Christ's sign shall brighten all the sky;
And we with her obey with one accord,
The Angel of the Resurrection's cry. P. G.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Lyons & Levey's regular auction sale will be held this morning, commencing at 10 o'clock.

By request of His Majesty the King, the Rev. H. H. Parker will deliver a short eulogy over the remains of the late Queen Dowager Emma in Kawaiahaeo church to-morrow, commencing at 12:30 p. m.

In the Supreme Court yesterday, claims to the amount of $5,000 were proved against the bankrupt estate of Kwong Yee Sing & Co., T. F. Lansing and Mow Koon were elected assignees under a joint bond of $1,500.

The plaster of the ceiling in Associate Justice Austin's room, as well as that in the private office of the Minister of the Interior, in Aliolani Hale, which was wet during the late rains, is being removed to make room for new ceilings.

The programme for the funeral procession of Her late Majesty Queen Dowager Emma is reprinted in to-day's ADVERTISER. The only change is that of substituting the officers and crew of H. I. R. M. S. Djiguit for the U. S. S. Hartford.

The Postoffice despatched 3,073 letters and papers by the Mariposa, most of which were posted after 7 o'clock a. m. yesterday. The bulk of the foreign mail was dispatched on Wednesday by the Zealandia. Both boats will probably arrive at San Francisco the same day—the 22d.

While Mr. E. B. Miles was driving home yesterday, having a horse behind the carriage, the led animal stopped suddenly, nearly dragging Mr. Miles from the wagon. The horse in the shafts also stopped very quickly, and to add to the complication, one of the wagon wheels became disabled, and the vehicle was left by the roadside. Mr. Miles managed to control both horses without further mishap.

There has been received at the office of this paper a bagful of rags for the lepers at Kakaako Hospital. These rags will prove very acceptable, and we hope the example of the donor, Mr. Foster, harness maker, on Fort street, will be followed by others. According to the announcement made some time since, we will see to the delivery at the hospital of all material that can be used as bandages by the lepers.

The Sydney Evening News of the 14th ultimo, contains a long and very complimentary notice of the initial performance of the Emerson troupe, who opened in the Gaiety Theater on the evening of the 14th ultimo, "to an overflowing house." Emerson was a favorite in the Colonies ten years ago, and the Evening News writer thinks he has improved since then. The rest of the troupe are mentioned very favorably, and we do not doubt their Colonial season will prove a success in every way.

Last Thursday evening the horse attached to Mrs. E. Macfarlane's carriage while standing in King street, near Kawaiahaeo Church, broke his hitching strap, and ran down the street. He turned the corner of the church-yard wall and dashed through the gateway. One wheel of the carriage struck one of the pillars at the side of the gate, and the shock threw the horse against the railing around the Lunalilo tomb, and stopped him. He was secured by some of the bystanders, and much to their surprise, neither horse nor buggy were seriously injured.

The Australian Mail.

As there is a chance that the Australia, which is due to-day from San Francisco, may not stop here, except to land the mails, the Postmaster-General informs us that he will close the mails for the Colonies to-day at 12 o'clock, so as to have them ready to send off at a moment's notice in the pilot's boat, whenever the steamer may be signalled, whether by day or night. Should the steamer come inside the port, a supplemental mail will be made up for her.
